11th June 2020

Dear Parents / Carers

We had been looking forward to welcoming Year 12 back into school next week for initial one-to-one tutorials. Unfortunately, circumstances mean that the face-to-face contact will not be possible. However, these tutorials are important. We are concerned about students' well-being, want to know how they are coping with their subject areas and are looking to start the university application process with them

I have attached a copy of the letter sent to students and attachments, which have been posted on ClassCharts and via email and which have been sent to all Year 12, so that you can see what is in place. We had hoped to be able to give students packs of materials, which include a copy of their GCSE results and Exam Boards to support their ability to complete their university application form. As this has not been possible, this has been posted out to students along with the attachments, in case they are unable to print them off at home.

Tutors will be contacting students over the next few days via email, to arrange a phone, a Zoom, or Google Hangouts' tutorial, next week. It is important that students reply to their tutors, confirming receipt of the email and attendance at the tutorial. Please encourage your son/daughter to keep checking their emails.

Circumstances permitting, we hope to have Year 12 back in school in half-year groups for sessions with subject teachers, week beginning Monday 22 June. A timetable is attached.

Thank you for your ongoing support and thank you for bearing with the ever-changing landscape. It is hoped that next week at least, we will be able to take the first tentative steps back to some form of normality for our students.

Yours sincerely

CAinsworth
